2. Read the passage and answer the questions that follow :

I left the well-house eager to learn. Everything had a name, and each name gave birth to a new thought. As we returned to the house, every object which I touched seemed to quiver with life. That is why I saw everything with the strange, new sight that had come to me. On entering the door I remembered the doll I had broken. I felt my way to the hearth and picked up the pieces and tried vainly to put them together. Then my eyes filled with tears; for I realized what I had done and for the first time I felt repentance and sorrow.

I learned a great many new words that day. I do not remember what they all were; but I do know that mother, father, sister, teacher were among them—words that were to make the world blossom for me, “like Aaron’s rod, with flowers”. It would have been difficult to find a happier child than I was as I lay in my crib at the close of the eventful day and lived over the joys it had brought me, and for the first time longed for a new day to come.

Questions :

- (i) Name the author and the chapter.
- (ii) Why did Helen leave the well house ?
- (iii) What did Helen do near the hearth ?
- (iv) Why did Helen feel a sense of repentance.
- (v) Give in simple English the meanings of two of the words :
Quiver; hearth; blossom.

3. Read the lines given below and answer the questions that follow :

4. Make a precis of the following passage and give it a suitable heading.

Moral Science not only helps us in imbibing good moral values, but also enables us to differentiate between good and evil. It moulds our character, personality and equips us with good etiquettes and manners making our lives happy and wholesome. Education and advancement in any field without good moral values and character brings about chaos and ruin. There are innumerable examples from history that bear testimony to this fact. Germany under Adolf Hitler advanced and progressed considerably. However his misplaced notion of the superiority of the German race and the profound hatred for the Jews brought his country to ruins. Moral Science is the basic building block of our character and hence its importance over other subjects taught in school. It not only benefits the individual, but also the society at large, making the world a better place to live in.
